Supervision and reflective practice REFLECTIONS ON SUPERVISION. INTRODUCTION. Reflections on supervision is a trigger to encourage both practice teacher and student to examine their expectations about the content and functions of supervision. The practice tutorial (supervision session) is the linchpin of the student's learning and the assessment of their practice abilities, yet it is has complex purposes and may reflect very different understandings of these purposes.

~~Supervision and reflective practice~~ REFLECTIONS ON SUPERVISION

Reflective Practice refers to the same concept as supervision but without the benefit of a supervisor or colleague" I use reflective practice as a tool to make my own supervision more effective. Indeed Hay makes the point "Prior analysis of your own practice saves supervision time and enables supervisors to operate at a higher level when they support and challenge you."

The foundations of effective supervision practice:
Promoting reflection and critical thinking. One message from practice is that, too often, supervision may be dominated by management processes and task completion, and not enough time is given to reflection and critical thinking. The opportunity to promote high quality services through promoting reflection as a means of increasing the understanding of the worker and supporting practice development may therefore be lost.

Neither reflection nor collaboration will occur without regularity of interactions. Supervision should take place on a reliable schedule, and sufficient time must be allocated to its practice. This time, while precious and hard to come by, should be protected from cancellation, rescheduling, or procrastination.
