autumn of 2000. He was born in Arvada, Colorado, a suburb of Denver, and lives part-time in a cave near Moab, Utah when he is not wandering the country.

Suelo - Wikipedia

In 2000, Daniel Suelo left his life savings—all thirty dollars of it—in a phone booth. He has lived without money—and with a newfound sense of freedom and security—ever since. The Man Who Quit Money is an account of how one man learned to live, sanely and happily, without earning, receiving, or spending a single cent. Suelo doesn't pay taxes, or accept food stamps or welfare.

The Man Who Quit Money by Mark Sundeen - Goodreads

Author Mark Sundeen tells us the story of Daniel Suelo, in the book The Man Who Quit Money. Daniel Suelo was a mid-aged man, who decided to drop everything and live on his own without the use of money; he would no longer live the typical American lifestyle and survive strictly on the kindness of others and the leftovers he could find in dumpsters. There are two kinds of selfishness—mentioned in this book,

According to Suelo, quite a lot. That's why he left his remaining thirty dollars in a phone booth 12 years ago and since then, has lived by his own philosophy: "Use only what is freely given or discarded & what is already present & already running." To some, Suelo's way of life will seem naïve and impractical.
